DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10, 11, 15, 16, and 20-24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weiss US Patent 6,071,190. The rejections contained in the previous office actions are relevant and incorporated herein. Weiss discloses all of the instant application without specifically disclosing how the various processing subsystems are connected. Weiss teaches a plurality of processors connected by a serial link or a motherboard with separate tasks performed whereby critical gaming functions may be partitioned from other functions by executing critical gaming functions on a separate dedicated processor and partitioning the devices hardware so that the functions not deemed critical which are stored or executed from alterable media are not capable of directly modifying the random access memory used by the critical gaming function. The above which is outlined in column 4 of Weiss is exactly what is presented in the summary of the invention of the instant application. The use of a specific type of bus or hardware is considered by the examiner to be hornbook engineering. The arrangement of parts (processors, memory, etc.) is considered to be an obvious arrangement of parts well within the capabilities of one skilled in the art when taken in combination with Weiss. Further Weiss discloses in column 4 that any component required to be uniquely controlled by the critical gaming functions are preferably not accessible by other functions stored or executed from alterable media. Thus the non-alterable media containing the critical gaming functions is easily verifiable as to content independent of any function of the gaming device itself. In column 2 of Weiss it is disclosed that a need exists for an independent secured processor design for validation which would provide all key functions such as the determination of game outcome, monetary input, output, and logging of relevant events. Furthermore, a need exists for an open architecture design, for example, a personal computer based design of the gaming device which would provide all shell functions of presenting the game environment and thus providing a substantial entertainment component of the gaming device. Weiss teaches that it is obvious to use a plurality of processing platforms constructed to be in communication with each other to provide security and be expandable for other gaming functions. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the teachings of Weiss to connect the various processing systems such as by using a personal computer based design.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 10, 11, 15, 16, and 20-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3713

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
